(IN)COMPLETE GUIDE TO CLIMATE ACTION

Empowering Global Efforts on the Local Level

APRIL 2024

WELCOME!

A Note from 350 Marin

If you're new to Marin County, or if you're new to climate action, this document is intended to introduce you to the main stakeholders and key players in the climate movement in Marin, provide a diverse array of opportunities for community members, students, and educators to implement climate action into their practices, and consolidate varied climate resources, such as available county, state, and federal rebates and information on electrification, into one document.

Use this guide as you see fit. We all bring a different set of skills and perspectives to the fight against climate change, and any expectation to whole-heartedly involve yourself in every sphere—political, non-profits, education, etc.—is unrealistic. Instead of overwhelming yourself trying to involve yourself in all areas possible, let this guide reveal your place in the climate fight, as certain sections resonate with your own experiences and strengths. After informing yourself with this guide, we encourage you to pass it along and share the knowledge with your neighbors and community. Together we can make a big impact.

We acknowledge that this document is ever-changing, an "incomplete" guide to climate action in Marin. In this day and age, climate regulations, rebates, and county and town goals are constantly evolving. 350Marin's hope for this document is to update its information as needed, but also to let provided links in each section serve as landing pages for your own discovery.

We hope this guide functions as a useful tool in your growing climate activism. See our website for upcoming events and opportunities to get involved.

MarinCAS Collaborative

The Marin Climate Action & Sustainability (CAS) Collaborative is an informal network open to 1-2 community volunteers per municipality who serve on existing local government committees and commissions; and additional climate leaders from non-profits and in communities without a formal structure who are dedicated to supporting local government action on behalf of climate change. It typically meets on Zoom on the 3rd Thursday of each month, and is currently hosted and facilitated by the Chair of the Fairfax Climate Action Committee, Jody Timms. Contact jodytimms@comcast.net for further information.

Marin Clean Energy

www.mcecleanenergy.org

A not-for-profit public agency community choice aggregator (CCA), which selects and purchases cleaner energy supplies that are delivered through existing wires to locals, while hiring locals for energy projects. Founded in 2010, with the support of local climate officials and activists, MCE has eliminated over 700,000 metric tons of GHGs and saved customers over $31.5 million. Serves most cities in the counties of Contra Costa, Marin, Napa, and Solano.

Transportation Authority of Marin (TAM)

www.tam.ca.gov

TAM organizes the projects and programs necessary for “improving overall mobility, including roads, highways, sidewalks, Safe Routes to School, bicycle lanes, transit and alternative commute options.” Funded by Marin County voter support of transportation funding (Measure AA and Measure B). Organization is governed by multiple committees, including those made up of public officials, local citizens, and volunteers.

Water Services

- Marin Water www.marinwater.org
  - A publicly owned and managed water system, Marin Municipal Water District is the first municipal water district in California. Today MMWD serves more than 191,000 people in central and southern Marin at reasonable prices with 100 percent locally sourced drinking water.
- North Marin Water District <https://nmwd.com/>
  - The District provides water service to the greater Novato area (76 square miles), and the West Marin Point Reyes area (23 square miles including Point Reyes Station, Inverness Park, Bear Valley, Olema and Paradise Ranch Estates area).
- Stinson Beach County Water District <http://stinsonwater.org/>
  - The District serves the Stinson Beach Village along Shoreline Highway and Panoramic Highway surrounded by Golden Gate National Recreation Area boundary. Its services include water service including treatment plant and system maintenance, garbage franchise, and on-site wastewater management.

Sanitary Services

- Marin Sanitary Service <https://marinsanitaryservice.com/>
  - Marin Sanitary Service provides weekly garbage, recycling and compostables (food scrap, yard waste and food-soiled paper) collection services to residential customers in San Rafael, San Anselmo, Ross, Kentfield, Kent Woodlands, Fairfax, Greenbrae, Larkspur and other unincorporated areas of Central Marin County. They currently service more than 30,000 residential accounts, almost one third of the population of Marin.
- Central Marin Sanitation Agency <https://www.cmsa.us>
  - CMSA is responsible for treating and disposing of wastewater and biosolids from Central Marin County and produces recycled water and renewable power. CMSA also regulates the commercial, industrial, and institutional discharges into the sewage collection system of member districts.
- Mill Valley Refuse Service <https://www.millvalleyrefuse.com>
  - Mill Valley Refuse Service provides garbage, recycling, and compost collection services to Southern Marin. They offer a range of services, including debris boxes, street sweeping, storage boxes, and portable toilet rentals.
- Recology <https://www.recology.com/recology-sonoma-marin/west-marin/>
  - Recology provides services to West Marin and strives to find the best and highest use of all materials they collect, helping the community to divert as many materials as possible away from the landfill.

California Climate Action Corps

www.californiavolunteers.ca.gov/climateactioncorps/

The California Climate Action Corps Fellowship trains emerging leaders for 11 months, from September to August, to work with various communities on sustainability projects. Fellows engage in volunteer work, climate action, and education initiatives, focusing on urban greening, organic waste recovery, edible food redistribution, and wildfire resiliency.

SEI Climate Corps

<https://www.climatecorps.org/>

Climate Corps is an award-winning fellowship program that provides professional development opportunities for emerging leaders by implementing sustainability and resiliency projects with local governments, nonprofits, and for-profit businesses. Host organizations receive the support of qualified, passionate, dedicated Fellows, who gain real-world expertise in sustainability project implementation. Climate Corps simultaneously addresses climate and sustainability projects and cultivates the next generation of environmental leaders. Since 2010, Climate Corps has worked with over 600 partners and 800 Fellows on 1,300 high-impact projects.
